Summary

With a background in Internet marketing, public speaking, and business operations, Stephen Pierce serves as CEO of Stephen Pierce International, Inc. (SPI), based in McKinney, Texas. Mr. Pierce attributes his current success to hard-won lessons gained through years of trial and error. Failing in several business ventures throughout the 1990s, Stephen Pierce was filing for bankruptcy and without a home when he began focusing on the unique leveraging opportunities of the Internet. Discovering a hidden talent for commodities and futures trading, he began offering free trading tips online and through e-mail newsletters. Stephen Pierce gained a reputation for the effectiveness of his trading strategy, and he established his own trading service. Mr. Pierce earned half a million dollars during his first year of operations and has not looked back since. Today, SPI stands as a multimillion-dollar enterprise that offers wealth-creation products and services tailored to the requirements of at-home entrepreneurs and corporate marketing professionals alike. Stephen Pierce's nickname, "The Success Sculptor," recognizes his abilities in creating dynamic and profitable Internet business models that go well beyond the conventional. Mr. Pierce also maintains a busy schedule as a personal finance expert, regularly appearing on national media outlets such as NBC, ABC, CBS, and FOX News. Stephen Pierce's national visibility extends to a public speaking career. He has notably been involved in Get Motivated Seminars, Inc. alongside Bill Cosby, Colin Powell, Goldie Hawn, Sarah Palin, and John Walsh. In May 2011, Stephen Pierce announced the launch of a new corporate motivational series, Corporate Success Sculpting with Stephen Pierce. The series focuses on workers who have been adversely affected by the recession but have been able to hold on to their jobs. Mr. Pierce seeks to foster new methods of productivity and innovation while boosting the morale of his audiences.
